Each of these island experiences are part of The Ohio State University's Ohio Sea Grant and Stone Lab, two programs dedicated to bringing Lake Erie science and history to the public through research, education and outreach.

Ohio Sea Grant, one of 33 NOAA Sea Grant programs dedicated to the protection and sustainable use of marine and Great Lakes resources, leads the way on solving Lake Erie's toughest problems. Stone Laboratory is the research station for the Ohio Sea Grant College Program, offering more than 25 college courses and workshops for college students, advanced high school students and educators, as well as a Lake Erie science field trip program for grades 5 through adult.
